Anne Smith, her husband Mark, and their young son, Tony, have just moved to London and need somewhere to live until they settle down. In the meantime, they are staying in a hotel not far from Mark’s place of work. (paragraph 1)

Anne buys some newspapers and looks at the Property To Let section. She finds lists of many kinds of properties but she is mostly interested in the list of major apartment complexes in her area. She finds out that each apartment complex offers different facilities. Some complexes have a gym, others have a kind of club and sometimes they even have a pool. Some complexes have all of these. (paragraph 2)

Anne notices that the more luxuries an apartment complex has, the more it costs each month. She wants the family’s new apartment to be nice, but she does not want to spend too much money on it. She and mark are trying to save money to buy a house of their own. (paragraph 3)

After considering prices, luxuries, and locations, Anna finds several apartment complexes that she thinks the family will like. Anna calls the apartment complexes. She sets up appointments with the apartment managers to see the apartments she thinks are interesting. Anna makes five phone calls in total.

When Mario gets back to the hotel from work, Anna shows him the list of apartments.

“These look good,” he says.

The next day, while Mario is at work and Antonio is at childcare, Anna visits the apartment complexes. She likes the fifth one best. It is in a good school district. It has a pool, but no fitness centre or clubhouse. It is near Mario’s job. Anna hopes to find a job nearby, as well.

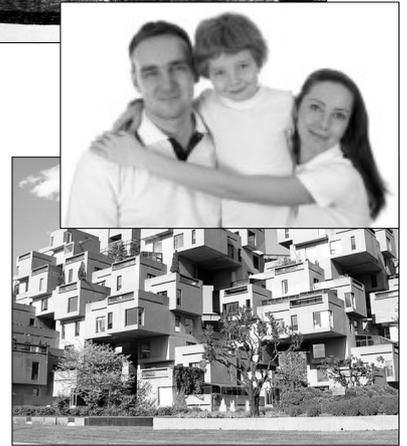

When Anna gets back to the hotel, she discusses all that she has seen with Mario. They decide to rent the last apartment Anna saw.

The next day, Anna calls the manager of the apartment complex with the news. The manager asks Anna and Mario to sign a lease and pay a security deposit. If the family damages the apartment in any way while they are living there, the security deposit will help to pay for the cost of repairs. Anna and Mario sign a lease and pay the money. The manager asks them when they plan to move in and Anna looks up at Mario. He looks back at her for a moment and then tells the manager, “In a few days.” Finally, they have a place to stay.

Read the following passage and then answer the questions:

ANNE FINDS AN APARTMENT

Anne began looking for an apartment for the family to live in. She picked up a local newspaper and, in the Classified section, found lists of properties in her area which were for sale or to let. Anne started by looking at the prices for apartments which were offered for rent. Then she read about the different facilities that each apartment complex offered. For example, some apartments had a recreation room, others had a gym, which sometimes is called a fitness centre, while some even had a pool. The most luxurious apartments had all of these! (paragraph 2)

Of course, the more luxuries an apartment complex had, the more it cost each month. Anne wanted the family's new apartment to be pleasant, but she did not want to spend too much money on it; she and Mark were trying to save money to buy their own apartment! (paragraph 3)

After considering prices, facilities, and locations, Anne found several apartment complexes that she thought were suitable. She made a series of phone calls and fixed appointments with five estate agents to see those flats she thought would suit her family. When Mark got back to the hotel from work, Anna showed him the list of apartments she would be viewing. Mark agreed with her that the apartments she had chosen looked promising. (paragraph 4)

So, the next day, while Mark was at work and Tony was in a childcare centre, Anna visited the apartment complexes. She liked the fifth one best: there was a good school nearby and the complex had a communal pool. It had no fitness centre or recreation room but it was near Mark's office. Anna hoped that she would be able to find a job nearby as well. (paragraph 5)

When Anne returned to the hotel, she discussed everything with Mark and they decided to rent the last apartment Anne had seen. (paragraph 6)

The next day, Anne called the manager of the apartment complex to let him know of their decision to rent the flat. Anne and Mark together with the manager signed a rent agreement at the office of a notary public and paid all the necessary money plus a security deposit. They were told that if the family damaged the apartment in any way while they were living there, the security deposit would help to pay for the cost of repairs. When the manager asked them when they planned to move in, Anne looked up at Mark. He looked back at her for a moment and then told the manager, "In a few days' time." (paragraph 7)

My Grandpa - Kenn Nesbit

I'll tell you a bit of my grandpa.
I think he's a thousand years old.
He must keep his hands in the freezer;
I've never felt ice cubes that cold.

The hair growing off of his earlobes is more than the hair on his head.
His eyes are all baggy and bloodshot.
His nose is the same shade of red.

His voice is like rickety floorboards.
It crackles and groans when he speaks.
Whenever he bends down to hug me
it sounds like his skeleton creaks.

He says that his memory is failing.
He thinks that he's losing his mind.
He's always misplacing his glasses;
without them he's legally blind.

My mom says his hearing is normal.
I kind of believe her, but then whenever I tell him "I love you,"
he asks me to say it again.

Answer all questions

Mr. Bumble, who had handed Oliver over to the care of an old woman, returned; and, telling him it was a board night, informed him that the board had said he was to appear before it forthwith<sup>1</sup>.

Not having a very clearly defined notion<sup>2</sup> of what a live board was, Oliver was not quite certain whether he ought to laugh or cry. Mr. Bumble conducted him into a large white-washed room, where eight or ten fat gentlemen were sitting round a table.

'Bow to the board,' said Bumble. Oliver brushed away two or three tears that were lingering in his eyes; and seeing no board but the table, fortunately bowed to that.

'What's your name, boy?' said the gentleman in the high chair.

Oliver was frightened at the sight of so many gentlemen, which made him tremble: and the beadle<sup>3</sup> gave him another tap behind, which made him cry. These two causes made him answer in a very low and hesitating voice; whereupon a gentleman in a white waistcoat said he was a fool.
